* If you withdraw your Reka Money through your employer or association, it may be possible that the latter assumes the fees or a split of the costs occurs. In the event of a change / new entry, the fee regulations of the new employer or association come into force. Fees are always payable in advance for the coming year and for the first time when you open the account. If the account management fees are assumed by the employer, the Reka-Card account is charged CHF 15.– on the opening day and the balance is visible on the following day.

 Defrayal of the postage costs by yourself.
